BC-LCJFIP Application Guide

Welcome to the British Columbia Low Carbon Jet Fuel Incentive Program (BC-LCJFIP). This guide is designed to help eligible airlines complete the application process, including the submission of the BC-LCJFIP Application Form and the BC-LCJFIP Delivery Verification Form. Please follow the instructions below to ensure a smooth and successful application.

1. Program Overview

The BC-LCJFIP aims to support early adoption of Low Carbon Jet Fuel (LCJF) by offering incentives to airlines operating in British Columbia. The program helps to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions in advance of regulatory requirements by providing financial incentives to offset the higher costs of LCJF.

The process involves two main steps:

1. Submission of the BC-LCJFIP Application Form before fuel purchases are delivered.
2. Submission of the BC-LCJFIP Delivery Verification Form after the fuel has been delivered.

2. Before You Apply

- Check Eligibility: Confirm that your organization is eligible under Canada's Aeronautics Act and is operating flights under the Canadian Aviation Regulations (CARs) (Parts 701, 703, 704, and 705).
- Decide on Incentive Type: Choose between a Cash Incentive, an LCFS Credit Option, or an LCFS Credit Option: Fuel Supplier Incentive Transfer based on your organization's preferences.
- Prepare Information: Have details of your planned LCJF purchase ready, including supplier information, estimated volume, and expected delivery dates.

Prices should be expressed in Canadian dollars (CAD) per Litre (L) and the price premium range must not exceed $0.25 CAD/L.
